MOULTON.

MATERIALS FOR A HISTORY OF MOULTON

From Pre-Glacial Times to the death of Victoria.

Being a Short Chronlogical Summary of the Collections formed by Sidney J. Madge.

INTRODUCTION.

The antiquarian wealth of Moulton is so considerable, its variety and extend so surprising, that the wonder grows with advancing years that such a fertile field should have remained so long neglected. This neglect is the more to be deplored, because its records are rich in historical interest, and exhibit not only an amplitude of facts and details, but a continuity so remarkable that the imagination is fired with the possibilities open to the future historian; for with scarcely a break or flaw they extend from the Confessor's days to our own, and include several hundred rolls and documents of earlier date than the sixteenth century.

Until the year 1889, when the writer commended a systematic collection of Moulton Records – a work destined to occupy the leisure of 13 years – the only well-known or accessible sources of printed information were five in number, viz.:-

(1) Morton's "Natural History" (1712).
(2) Bridge's "Northants," Vol. I. (1791).
(3) Baker's "Northants," Vol. I. (1822).
(4) Whellan's "Northants" (1874).
(5) Kelly's "Directory" (1887).

During the progress of the writer's research no fewer than 41 publications were discovered bearing dates previous to 1800; and the extent of the collections formed in those thirteen years may be judged from the fact that in one section alone there were literal transcripts of "Moulton Materials" from more than 290 separate publications, the dates ranging from 1640 to 1902.

The following summary of the "MOULTON M.S. COLLECTIONS, 1889-1902," which includes the volumes and articles already published by the writer, may fittingly find a place in the present publication.
